

We live in an area where radio reception is limited to poor to non-existent. That is why we purchased and installed a satellite radio in our vehicle and our home. It would appear that people in rural America do not have all the amenities that are available to those in more populous areas. When we finally do get comparable services certain lobbies try to deny continued use of these services. Why? In consideration of the NAB petition 04-160, ask yourself that question.
